

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

To enable increasing the integration density of a semiconductor component, for example a memory cell field, gate paths or tracks are formed on a first and a second region of the semiconductor substrate along with source/drain regions adjacent these gate paths. Then, contacts for the source/drain regions in the second area are formed followed by forming spacers on the gate paths or tracks.